

THE BUILD BULLETIN

STOCKSFIELD AND MICKLEY

Following the team returning to site in late-May, we've made major advances preparing the next set of properties to be released. You may have spotted our team building, testing and splicing the newly installed infrastructure nearby New Ridley Road.

Before we can make these properties live, we will be performing some maintenance works on the live network to further improve our service. Once this has been successfully completed, the next sector can be released.

Our engineers are currently surveying customer lead-ins throughout the villages, so that installation appointments can be as efficient as possible. Once the next set of properties is released, those with contracts in the area will be contacted to book in their installation. At this time, we will host another community event to allow residents the opportunity to speak one-on-one with our team about the upgrade.

The completion of the network is a top priority for us and we're working closely with our build partners to deliver a high-quality service to 1,700+ properties across Stocksfield and Mickley.
