

THE BUILD BULLETIN

Rothbury

This month you may have noticed our friendly engineers working throughout the village. They have been busy test, rodding, and roping, as well as installing subduct along Whittonbank Road down to Carterside Road.

This process ensures the underground ducts are clear and ready for the fibre cables to be blown through. We have encountered a few blockages that will require some civil engineering work in the coming weeks. However, we won't let this hinder our progress. It is common to come across blockages when constructing rural networks. And fortunately, our expert team will be able to clear them efficiently.

As not to cause too much disruption, our team has also been completing some night works on B6341, Gravelly Bank, Front Street, and Townfoot/Brewery Lane. On these shifts they've been completing cabling works including building, splicing and testing the newly spanned fibre cables.

Our thorough testing process ensures homes and businesses can receive bandwidth built for the future (up to 1000Mbps!). Once we're happy with the results, more home and business will be released on to the network.

Those with contacts who are yet to be installed may spy our FTTP installation team proving their lead-ins. They'll soon be double checking the line-of-site, or underground ducts, between the core network and your house so that your installation appointment is as seamless as possible.

We would like to take this opportunity to reaffirm our gratitude to those patiently waiting to be connected. We greatly appreciate your ongoing support throughout this project. Our commitment to completing the network efficiently, without compromising on quality, is unwavering.
